

GUARD AT GRETTA AND LIQUOR HARD TO OBTAIN THERE

Bibulous Ones at Camp Schall Forced to Obtain Refreshment at Tavern Outside Reservation.

"Close Order" Drilling the Program Today - Governor Brumbaugh Up With the Sun to Watch the Work of the Citizen Soldiers.

From a Staff Correspondent. MT. GRETTA, Pa., July 12.—With the arrival of the Governor the anti-liquor laws were drawn tighter than ever about Camp Schall, and consequently the tavern at Colebrook has had a decided increase in business. In order to prevent "trickles" from carrying liquor into camp, unopened beer and whiskey is refused them. They must either drink their rum on the spot or go without.

Recognizing that it would be utterly impossible to watch the entrance of every man in the camp, observance of the Governor's dictum against liquor has been made a point of honor, and the men are observing it as such.

Close order war strength company drilling will be the principal work of the men today. In fact the general orders issued so far indicate that this work will continue all week. No long marches are planned, and, except upon basis of inspection, the men will be kept at close-order work.

The decision of the officers and instructors to drill the men in this particular branch of open field work is looked upon as significant. It is five or six years since close order work was taught, but officers on the field say that the rapid advance of the Germans into France and Belgium has demonstrated that close order fighting leads to the most successful warfare and therefore it is considered wise to devote much attention to it.

The dissatisfaction caused by the lack of sufficient piping to operate all the shower baths still exists, although some relief was obtained this morning. Many of the men have been bathing in the lake, but following Sunday's heavy storm the water is muddy and unfit to swim in. The men are also somewhat disgruntled with the idea of spending most of their time at close order work. They desire to "hit" through the country in order to get out of the broiling air. They are standing the strain well, however. No heat prostrations have been reported so far.

Reviewing of the troops starts tomorrow. The 4th Brigade will be reviewed tomorrow morning. This work will end on Friday, but on Thursday the entire division will be reviewed by the Governor.

The Governor was up with the sun this morning and watched with keen interest the early work of the troops about headquarters. When squads of musketeers went through the company streets "rattling the line," the music awakened the Executive, and having a desire to see what it was all about he started to ask questions.

TRANSIT WORK READY LONG IN ADVANCE

First Large Contract Completed Six Weeks Before Specified Time.

The first large contract for the relocation and reconstruction of sewers in the central business section preliminary to the construction of the subway loop was completed today, six weeks in advance of the time set in the specifications. As a result of the reward offered by Director Taylor to all contractors who should complete their work under contract time, Robert Lombardi, the contractor for this section, will receive about $1600 as a bonus.

The section just completed runs from 6th and Walnut streets diagonally across Washington Square to 7th and Locust streets and up Locust to 8th street. The contract price was $54,000, and the work was begun on March 22. The work was inspected by engineers from the Department of City Transit, and Director Taylor formally accepted it as soon as it was completed.

The contract for the sewer work from Dock street to Sixth and Walnut streets, upon which Mayor Blankenburg turned the first spadeful of earth on March 20, will also be completed far in advance of the specified time, according to present indications. Members of the firm of Peoples Brothers, who hold the contract, believe that they will be able to finish the work about three months before the specified time.

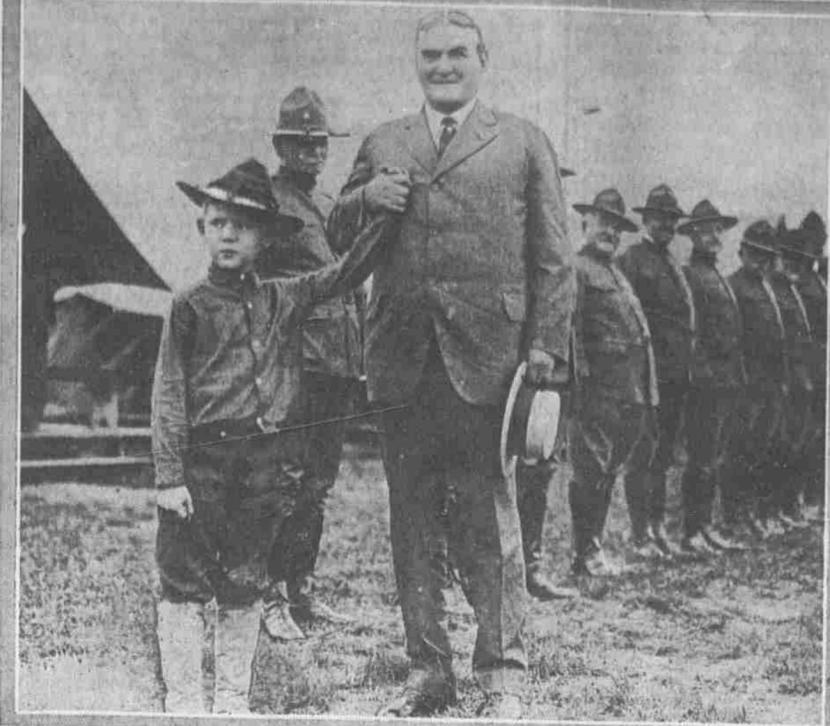

The time limit for the small section on Ninth street, between Market and Arch streets, expired nearly two weeks ago, but several more days will be required before the work is entirely completed. As a result, Joseph Ferns, the contractor, will be forced to pay a fine of nearly $500.

By present indications, the other two sections of the sewer work will be completed several weeks before the specified time. The work on all the contracts has been regularly inspected by the engineers of the Transit Department, and Director Taylor has kept in close touch with the contractors in an effort to have them rush the work to the earliest possible completion.

It was reported today that Mayor Blankenburg had declared that City Solicitor Ryan had not been "manly" in intimating that the Mayor was partly responsible for the Dillman suit to restrain the city from entering upon the transit program. The Mayor, it is said, from his summer home in Pocono Pines, challenged Mr. Ryan to come out openly and make direct charges in order that he could be properly answered.

Reference was made to Mr. Ryan's assertion that the transit "muddle" was due in part at least to his having been discarded as the administration's legal adviser in matters arising between the city and the Rapid Transit Company. The Mayor is said to have observed that he knew what Mr. Ryan was driving at, but that he would not make public his suspicions now.

GOVERNOR BRUMBAUGH VISITS NATIONAL GUARD CAMP

At the headquarters of the 3d Brigade, at Mt. Gretna, the Governor posed for a photograph with the young son of Brigadier General Charles M. Clement.

UNFORTUNATE FAMILY IN HANDS OF NEMESIS

Murder, Accidents and Poverty Is Lot of Breginsir Household.

RECORD OF MISFORTUNE SUFFERED BY FAMILY

June 15—Mrs. Maria Breginsir became seriously ill as result of fall many weeks before.

June 18—William Breginsir sailed on British ship Mobile. It was torpedoed off the coast of Scotland.

June 22—George Spurnan, brother-in-law of Catherine Breginsir, struck on head with hammer by workman.

June 25—Feliz Breginsir stabbed John Endress, of 2208 Belgrade street.

June 28—Feliz Breginsir sent to jail.

July 15—Anna Breginsir, 4 years old, run down by horse. Skull fractured. Sent to St. Mary's Hospital.

A nemesis has relentlessly pursued the Breginsir family for the last six months. Murder, accidents, poverty and general misery have made their two-room house at 23 West Master street one of constant gloom.

The trouble started when Mrs. Breginsir became seriously ill as a result of a fall down stairs. As Andrew, the father of the family, was out of work, it was necessary for some one to take up the burdens.

William, a son, embarked on a British ship, aware of the fact that death might be his fate. The ship was torpedoed by a German submarine and William was picked up at sea after floating on a raft for a whole day.

This news had barely reached them when George Spurnan, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Breginsir, was injured in a fight. A few days later the woman's son, Felix, stabbed John Endress, an acquaintance, with a knife and the latter died in the Stetson Hospital.

Felix was sent to jail and it was thought that the troubles of the family were over. But little Anna Breginsir went on an errand last night and on her return home she was knocked down by a horse ridden by Thomas Sinnanon, a Negro. The child's skull was fractured and she received severe bodily injuries.

MAYOR BLANKENBURG AWARDS 13 SCHOLARSHIPS TO U. OF P.

Follows Recommendations of Committee of Education.

Thirteen scholarships to the University of Pennsylvania were awarded by Mayor Blankenburg. The awards were made according to the recommendations of a committee of educators of which Dr. William D. Lewis, principal of the William Penn High School, is chairman.

These scholarships are independent of those granted by the Board of Education. The Mayor is authorized to award a number of scholarships in return for a plot of ground deeded to the University several years ago by the municipality.

Several of the winners of municipal scholarships received similar gifts from the school district several days ago. In accordance with a resolution adopted by the High Schools Committee of the Board of Education, they will be obliged to surrender the school district scholarships to other students who did not receive the Mayor's scholarships.

The municipal certificates provide for a four-year course without cost to the holder. The winners, all of whom submitted to competitive examination, are:

Harry Bernard Abbott, Jr., 1231 South 47th street, West Philadelphia High.

Hyman Berkowitz, 1109 South 8th street, Southern High.

Philip James Berry, 1740 North 10th street, Roman Catholic High.

Maxel Broome, 3236 Kinrossing avenue, West Philadelphia High.

Abraham Louis Charney, 956 North Franklin street, Central High.

Benjamin Couler Disharoon, 1249 South 53d street, Central High.

Thomas Byrd Epps, 3008 Chestnut street, West Philadelphia High.

Paul John Jones, 4113 Chester avenue, Roman Catholic High.

John Cecil Rhodes, 187 West Pacific street, Central High.

Meyer Schmalzleitner, 3004 Euclid avenue, Central High.

John V. Shank, 1545 North Edgewood street, West Philadelphia High.

Two additional scholarships will be awarded by the Mayor in the near future.

YOUNG MARRIED PAIR ON LEDGER SPECIAL

Train Filled With Confetti When They Reach Chicago and Leave for Omaha.

CARROLL, Iowa, July 12.—The Ledger Special for the Panama-Pacific Exposition, now 32 miles out of Chicago and 1242 miles away from Philadelphia, stopped here just long enough this morning for one telegram to be thrown out of a Pullman window.

Everybody on the special was in bed when the train pulled out of Chicago last night, so nobody knew when the corn Belt put in an appearance unless it was O. Louis Zimmerman, Jr., and Mrs. Ehmman. The Ehmman, who live at 1855 South 18th street, in Philadelphia, sat up most of the night brushing confetti out of their hair while a porter's broom swished for hours up and down the aisle. A Chicago friend, who hadn't seen the Ehmman since their marriage on April 15, was responsible for the confetti. The Ledger travelers have enjoyed Iowa; they slept almost across it. In three hours they'll be in Omaha.

They will be at the Rome Hotel. At 4:30 they leave Omaha for Denver.

Mrs. R. Creighton, 1900 East Cambria street, wife of Sergeant Creighton, of the 4th District, it was learned today, dropped her handbag in an automobile in Chicago. She's out quite a large amount in cash and jewelry. Fortunately she was wearing a diamond brooch which otherwise would have been in the bag.

LETTER TO BISHOP IN $100,000 LIBEL SUIT

Plaintiff Declares Rhinelander Received Note Calling Him Spurious Prelate.

A letter written to Bishop Rhinelander by F. Conliffe-Owen, whose nom de plume is the Marquis de Fontenoy, figures prominently in a libel suit for $100,000 damages brought by Bishop-Prince de Landas Berghes against Owen.

The plaintiff alleges that the letter and articles written by Mr. Owen have caused him to be regarded as a spurious Bishop and Prince in Protestant Episcopal Church circles, although he has a priest's license in the Anglican Church of America, in the Diocese of New Jersey.

Bishop Rhinelander, he declares, made known among Episcopal clergymen the contents of the letter. In the complaint, which was filed in the Supreme Court of New York yesterday, the plaintiff's full name is given as Rodolphe Francois Christian Hamilton de Lorraine de Landas Berghes St. Winock, Hegynary Bishop of Scotland. Through his mother he is said to be related to Alexander Hamilton.

Owen's letter warns Bishop Rhinelander against the Bishop-Prince.

"I have had him questioned by some sharp and very clever reporters whom I had primed with inquiries," a portion of it reads. "He got terribly flustered and convinced them, and afterward me, that he is no other than the Andries Careel Albertus McLagen mentioned in the article, who has a very unsavory record."

In a newspaper article, Owen writes that the title, which the Bishop-Prince claims, has lapsed and that the Bishop McLagen referred to is "a native of Cape Town, of mixed Scotch and Dutch parentage, with a slight strain of Zulu blood in his veins, and a former private in the 2d Infantry of the British Army."

Bishop-Prince de Landas Berghes denies the allegations, maintaining that he is mistaken for another person, named MacLagen. His title, he says, comes from his mother's side.

Philadelphia Freed at Wilmington

WILMINGTON, July 12.—Harry Dych, of Philadelphia, who was accused, with Louis Rosenfeld, of Camden, of having caused the death of Frederick Criss was discharged. Rosenfeld was held without bail to await action of the authorities. According to the testimony, Rosenfeld and Criss were fighting in the street when Criss was injured.

97 score dairy butter at 4c a pound saving

It's a delicious butter that scores 97 points out of a possible 100. You may depend upon it that you can put such a butter on your table confidently, knowing that in flavor and in texture it is right—absolutely.

We are now able to provide our Crown Brand creamery butter at a saving of four cents a pound from the usual retail price. And we do this because, being large purchasers, we have been able to make direct arrangements with the creamery.

You save that troublesome "in-between" profit. We ask you to try this butter at its present price, and see by actual use whether it is not equal to butter selling four cents a pound higher.
